1. On 6 March 1952 the supply dump of the North Korean VI Corps was on Onjŏng-nyŏng (128-06, 38-43) (DT-2285) Mountain.¹ At this dump there were adequate rations, ammunition, and uniforms to supply 4 divisions for 20 days. The supplies, which are transported to the dump by truck, are stored in a trench, about 3 to 5 meters deep, along the roadside in the mountain valley. The trench is covered with a tent and camouflaged with pine tree branches.
2. In early March a North Korean division supply dump was in Onjŏng-ni (127-11, 38-41) (DT-2982). The supplies at this dump are transported from Onjŏng-nyŏng Mountain by ox-carts and manual labor. The supplies are then transported to the front-line units.
3. In early March a Chinese Communist food supply warehouse in an underground shelter, 600 meters long and 20 meters wide, was in the mountain-side directly behind the Hangil School at Noktong, Wonsan. The foodstuffs - sorghum, beans, corn, and wheat - are brought into Wonsan at night and transported to the warehouse for shipment to Ankyon and points further south. This warehouse supplies food for all Chinese Communist forces in Wonsan and the adjacent areas.
4. On 4 March a Chinese Communist clothing warehouse was in the side of a mountain directly behind the Wonsan Girls School at Sanch'ae-dong, Wonsan. It is an underground shelter 800 meters long and 20 meters wide.
5. In early March a Chinese Communist ammunition dump was in an underground shelter in the mountain-side directly behind the Sixth People's School at Kalma (127-28, 39-08) (CU-6732), Wonsan. The shelter is 500 meters long and 30 meters wide. The ammunition is transported from the Wŏnsan railroad station to the shelter by horse carts, which are unloaded inside the shelter. In late March the dump contained hand grenades, artillery shells, rifles, and other ammunition. Further transportation to the front lines is by truck at night.
